TAX UPDATE

1. Corporate Taxpayers' Most Common Pitfalls in the Financial Statements

The Revenue Department recently issues the list of corporate taxpayers' most common pitfalls spotted by the revenue officials in their financial statements as a warning for auditors. The department highlights these mistakes so that the corporate taxpayers can avoid these mistakes since the incorrect booking in financial statement could very well lead to the underpayment of taxes. Apparently, these most common pitfalls are the points where the revenue officials will be looking when they conduct any tax audit.

These are some of most common pitfalls in the financial statement spotted by the revenue officials.

1. The asset is booked in the financial statement, but list of asset related to the operation is missing.
2. The financial statement overbooks the value of an asset by including input VAT that is claimed back into the value of the asset.
3. Indication of the total amount of assets is not equal to the sum of the liabilities and shareholders' equity.
4. The financial statement does not show the cost of sale/service, which is irregular for business operation.
5. Expenses for sale and general administration are out of line with the reality, i.e. failure to book the annual auditor fee, failure to indicate the interest payable for overdraft and borrowing from a financial institution.
6. The financial statement lists assets without making the provision for depreciation or the financial statement makes the provision for depreciation, but calculates the depreciation only for some items of assets.
7. Inconsistent disclosure and insufficient disclosure in the notes to the financial statements.

LEGAL UPDATE

2. Continued Exemption for Foreign Business Capital Requirement

In general to be qualified to do business in Thailand, a foreign owned company or a foreign company is required to maintain the minimum capital as set forth by the Foreign Business Act. This minimum capital requirement applies to foreign owned companies and foreign companies across the board except for the foreign owned companies and foreign companies that operate the business under a treaty that Thailand is a party. This exemption expired on August 30, 2009 and the Minister of Commerce issues the new Ministerial Regulation effectively to continue to provide the exemption to the minimum capital requirement for a foreign owned company/foreign company operating under the treaty that Thailand is a party. As a result, a US company or a US owned company operating under the Treaty of Amity will not be required to fulfill the minimum capital requirement yet.
